WORKSHOP

Finding Your Partner, Discovering Yourself

WORKSHOP:

The Finding Your Partner, Discovering Yourself

This workshop is for you if you are:

- Single and pro-actively planning your next relationship,
- Already coupled
- Engaged and preparing for marriage,
- Wishing to enrich your relationship?

In this workshop opportunity you will:

01. Discover ways to become pro-active in co-creating relationships that work for both partners.
02. Discover a unique and creative approach to personal growth that will show you how you often use relationships to encounter and expressing your authentic self and highest potential.
03. You will get to see how relationships are a resource for getting to deeply know your self and practice being present to others.
04. Find out about how intimacy and peace are ways of being in the world, in relation to yourself as well as in relationships with others.
05. Gain insight into the full spectrum of personality styles and how different ways of being show up in relationships.
